We are an international community of biologists advancing the field of genetics.

Founded in 1931, the Genetics Society of America (GSA) is a non-profit scientific society with more than 5,000 members in 50+ countries around the world. We advance biological research by supporting professional development of scientists, by communicating advances and fostering collaboration through scholarly publishing and conferences, and by advocating for science and for scientists.

Since 2012, we have brought together more than 25,000 scientists at GSA conferences.

Since 1916, we have published more than 20,000 articles in our peer-reviewed journals GENETICS and G3: Genes|Genomes|Genetics.

Don't miss the chance to meet your customers and reach out to new ones from across the biological research spectrum—all under one roof.
