UNIFYING THEMES

Thematic Sessions bring together the latest advances from all research communities, focused on key topics of interest. Thematic Sessions do not overlap with the Community Sessions in the schedule.

YOUR COMMUNITY

TAGC features networking opportunities and deep explorations from seven participating communities. Community Sessions are also divided by theme, so you can tailor your schedule according to your interests.

CONNECTIONS THAT MATTER

The conference is designed to help you find colleagues with complementary interests, meet potential employers, and make career-long connections you value. Don't miss out on being part of the conversation!

Join the C. elegans, Drosophila, mammalian, Xenopus, yeast, zebrafish, and population, evolutionary, and quantitative genetics (PEQG) research communities—along with those working on humans, plants, and agricultural species.

Professional Development Gain professional skills at workshops. Connect with mentors and peers via our new faculty forum, peer review training program, poster invitations, and multiple networking events.

Industry Collaboration Find collaborators. Discover new technologies coming down the pipeline. Learn about industry careers.

Advocacy Bring your message to policymakers on Capitol Hill.
